This guide will help you know what to expect when arriving at Dubbo Regional Airport.

When your plane lands, you will leave the aircraft by walking downstairs or using a ramp.

The airfield can be noisy, and you may notice the smell of aircraft fuel. This is normal and nothing to worry about.

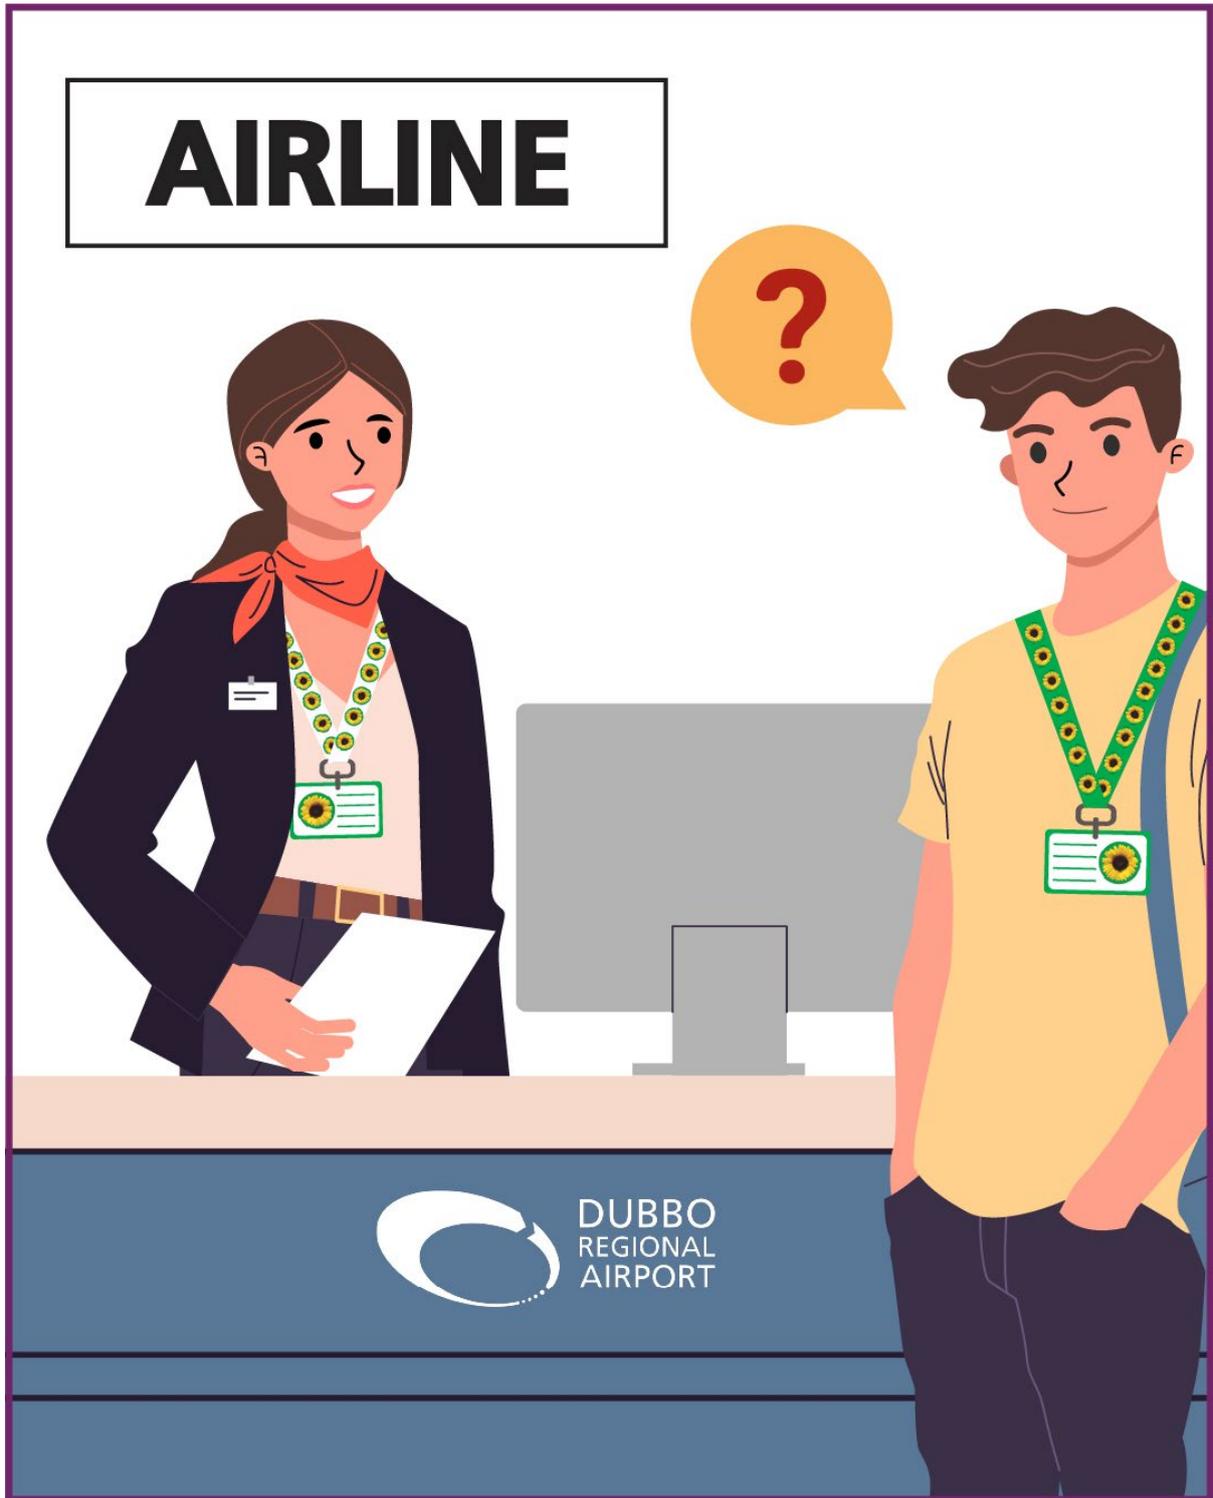

Follow the other passengers to the terminal building.

Follow the signs to the Arrivals Hall.

If you checked in bags, wait by the baggage carousel to collect them. Bags may take some time to arrive, and other passengers will also be waiting.

If you cannot find your bag or need help, speak to the airline staff at their service desk.

After collecting your belongings, you can leave the terminal to meet family or friends or continue your journey.

If you feel unsure or overwhelmed at any stage, ask a staff member for help.
